

Action Properties & Process Flow

Description

Each action icon contains a description for the action. This description can be edited in both the action's property dialog, or by clicking on the label below the icon.

Process Flow

Process workflow is designated by the display of lines between action icons in the Process Design window.

Some actions can have only one successor action. This is shown by a single, one-way, path going from that action icon to the next action.

Other actions allow for multiple paths from an action. This situation is shown by having multiple lines going from the action icon to each of its successors. In some cases these paths will have their own labels.
