

Web Interface - Overview

The Web Interface contains the main user interface for users participating in automated business processes.

The web interface is made up of core web pages, user preferences, and administration web pages. Of the core pages, users will spend most of their time in the Task List and Task Detail pages.

Who Should Review

The Web Interface Guide is for users who will be utilizing the Web Interface component of the Quik Flow Automation Suite. This will include most users, as the Web Interface is the main interface for the software. Any user who will be participating in automated business processes should familiarize themselves with the operation of the Web Interface.
